{{ contact.FIRSTNAME | default : "Dear friend," }},

As we embrace the summer months, we're excited to explore the dynamic and evolving landscape of education in the United States. This past month, we explored the benefits of homeschooling—a choice more families are considering to tailor education to their children's unique needs and interests.

Have you considered homeschooling but felt uncertain about whether you could handle it? We understand that the idea of homeschooling can be daunting, but we're here to assure you that you absolutely can do it—and there are plenty of reasons why it might be the best choice for your family.

1. YOU KNOW YOUR CHILD BEST

No one understands your child's needs, strengths, and interests better than you do. Homeschooling allows you to create a tailored educational experience that suits your child's unique learning style, pace, and passions. This personalized approach often leads to greater academic success and a deeper love of learning.

2. FLEXIBLE & ADAPTABLE

Homeschooling offers unmatched flexibility. You can design a schedule that works for your family, allowing for more family time, travel, and extracurricular activities. This flexibility can reduce stress and create a more balanced and enjoyable lifestyle for everyone involved.

3. STRONGER FAMILY BONDS

Homeschooling provides an opportunity for families to spend more quality time together. This time can strengthen family relationships and allow you to instill your values and beliefs more directly. The close-knit environment of homeschooling fosters a supportive and loving atmosphere for your child's growth.

4. ACCESS TO QUALITY RESOURCES

You don't need to be an expert in every subject to homeschool successfully. There are countless resources available, including online courses, community co-ops, tutoring services, and educational materials. Many homeschooling communities also offer support groups and networks to help you navigate the homeschooling journey.

5. SAFE & POSITIVE ENVIRONMENT

Homeschooling allows you to create a safe, nurturing learning environment for your child. This setting can protect them from negative influences such as bullying and peer pressure, providing a familiar environment where they can focus on their studies and personal development without distraction.

6. SOCIALIZATION OPPORTUNITIES

Contrary to popular belief, homeschooled children have ample opportunities to socialize. Many communities have vibrant homeschooling networks that organize group activities, sports teams, field trips, and social events. Homeschooled children often interact with a diverse range of age groups and social settings, preparing them well for real-world interactions.

7. ACADEMIC SUCCESS

Research shows that homeschooled students often perform exceptionally well academically. With the ability to progress at their own pace and focus on their interests, many homeschooled children achieve high levels of academic achievement and are well-prepared for college and beyond.

You have the capability to provide a rich, rewarding educational experience for your child. Homeschooling may seem like a big step, but with the resources and support from Freedom in Education it can be a fulfilling and successful journey.

Title IX Revisions

On May 1, 2024, a coalition of 53 organizations, representing 805,645 members, sent a letter to Secretary of Education Miguel Cardona to express deep opposition to the final Title IX rules released Friday, April 19, 2024. The rules supplant “sex” with “gender identity.” In doing so, the guidance poses a grave threat to the safety and opportunities of women and girls and thwarts students’ First Amendment rights. The revisions also strip students of due process protections. Freedom in Education has addressed frequently asked questions here.
